NVMA Safety Award Winners Lead by Example

The Nevada Mining Association (NVMA) held its 110th Annual Convention and safety awards banquet in Lake Tahoe on Friday, September 8, 2023. The NVMA provides these awards as recognition for industry professionals whose extraordinary efforts ensure mine workers return home safely after every shift. NVMA Interim President Dana Bennett says safety is of utmost importance in Nevada’s mining industry. She went on to say what an honor it was celebrating the individuals who lead by example. This year, 133 nominations were submitted which led to 47 winning miners across the state.

Of the 47 winners, four winners came from Kinross Gold Mining. The 2023 Safety Award for General Manager went to Joe Kemp of Bald Mountain. The Safety Award for Safety Manager went to Deanna Hall of Bald Mountain. Steve Constant who is Round Mountain’s Mobile Maintenance Superintendent won the NVMA Superintendent Award. And Steve Howard, Ore Processing Superintendent also won the Superintendent Safety Award.

In addition to the individual safety awards, both Bald Mountain and Round Mountain sites won safety awards also. Round Mountain won the First Place 2023 Mine Operator Safety Award for a Large Surface Mine. Bald Mountain won Second Place for the 2023 Mine Operator Safety Award for a Large Surface Mine.

Congratulations to all the 2023 NVMA winners.

Neil Jensen Takes a 2023 Leadership Role in NVMA

At the Nevada Mining Association Annual Convention a new chairman or woman takes on his/her new leadership role for the year. For the 2023 year, Kinross Nevada GM/VP Neil Jensen will be Chairman of the Nevada Mining Association. In his new role, Neil will work to drive workforce development and bring awareness to mining as a viable and lucrative employment option for the future of Nevada. Fundamental to Neil's work philosophy is a bottom-up approach. "You can't build a culture by talking about culture, but you can empower the right people, support them and the team around them, and watch something amazing grow," he said in his NVMA banquet speech. Neil looks forward to serving the mining industry in this capacity.

THANK YOU

A big thank you goes out to the Round Mountain PTO who organized a playground clean-up at the Round Mountain Elementary School on Friday, September 8. A small but hard-working group of six ladies came ready to work, including Sara Keehfuss pictured below. Other helpers were Coryn Westwood, Shasta Shafer, Jana Collier, Kerissa McCall, and Sonja Miller. If you would like to help at the next clean-up day, please contact the RM PTO.

PTO meetings are held on the third Tuesday of every month at 4pm in the Round Mountain Elementary School office. All Round Mountain Schools parents are invited to attend.

Please join me in thanking the following people for their selfless efforts that will leave a big impact on our school, our families and our community, from RMHS Athletic Director Kenndra Larsen.

- ◆ Thank you to Dennis and Heidi Bunch for mowing the RMHS football field on their days off. The school mower was acting up so they graciously offered to help the school and got it mowed.
- ◆ Take a drive by the high school football field to see our awesome fence cups that Kinross purchased. Thank you Rachel Ray and team for putting them up!
- ◆ Earl Dutton, thank you so much for taking the time to fix our football scoreboard. We didn't realize we had an issue until our middle school game last weekend. Earl spent a significant amount of time at the field troubleshooting the issue and now it's fixed!

RMHS Gymnasium Court Dedicated to Anna Berg

Round Mountain Schools held a dedication ceremony for beloved RMHS volleyball coach Anna Berg, who passed away suddenly in January 2023. Family, friends, players (former and current), and fans heard the students' appreciation of Anna's many years of service to the game of volleyball and the Lady Knights. The newly resurfaced court now bears Anna's name for eternity. Pictured above is the 2023 Lady Knights Volleyball team with their head coach Kenndra Larsen and Assistant Coach Shawna Mabe.

Introducing Round Mountain Schools' Health Aide

It's hard to tell who's more excited about the new health aide at Round Mountain Schools; the school or the health aide herself. Meet Adriana Macias. She is a Round Mountain resident, wife, and mother of three who remembers being sad when she heard the school doesn't have a nurse on staff. She remembers being in school and having the comfort of the school nurse when she was feeling ill or was hurt. While both school secretaries have taken exceptional care of injured or sick students, it will be nice to have a dedicated staff member to assist those students.

Pictured above is Adriana Macias, Round Mountain Schools Health Aide, treating a student's finger with a bandage. Mrs. Macias's room is next to the elementary school office and is equipped with a bed, wheelchair, and other health items. The health aide is there for all students in grades K-12.

Mrs. Macias will be the liaison between the Nye County School District nurse in Pahrump and Round Mountain Schools. Her duties include screening students who are experiencing symptoms or injury, contacting parents, and keeping health records. She will also assist with vision and hearing tests. But Adriana says the favorite part about her job will be to comfort kids when they're not feeling well.
