2022 RMGC Town Hall Shares With Community Its Goals and Celebrations

Sam Faga, Corporate Social Responsibility Specialist, and Nicole Silberschlag, Health and Safety Superintendent, address the crowd of about two dozen at the 2022 RMGC Town Hall Meeting. Exploration, Phase W and beyond, safety, operations optimization, and a lot of celebrations were presented to show transparency about the future of the mine. Read about all the details on pages 2 and 3.

Town Hall Presenters Discuss Accomplishments and Goals

Each year, RMGC holds a public Town Hall meeting for stakeholders. The 2022 Town Hall was held on November 17 in the newly renovated Safety Building. Here, several members of the RMGC Management team spoke with transparency about the current and future plans and projects surrounding the mine.

First up was Liz Hughes, Tech Services Manager. Liz explained the newly rescope plans for Phase W that has been broken into four smaller phases due to the geotechnical issues over the years, she said. Looking ahead, Liz gave some information about Phase S, which is still in the geotech study phase.

Next to speak was Dylan Baldwin, Exploration Manager. With core samples in hand, Dylan shared the various exploration projects Kinross Nevada has in the works. Phase X describes the plans to chase the high grade vein underground and is entering advanced exploration. The decline into that ore body will begin in 2023, Dylan noted. Near Tonopah, the property known as the Eastside, is “quite busy on the exploration side,” announced Dylan. What Kinross does with the exploration finds is ultra sensitive to gold price and commodity prices, added Kinross Nevada GM and VP, Neil Jensen. “We can’t control the commodity price variables, but we can control operation costs,” he said.

That’s where Liz came back into the picture. She was tasked with studying operational efficiencies as part of the Round Mountain Site Optimization, or RMSO. Liz and her team looked at what needed to happen in operations in order to run at the highest efficiency and then recommended implementing the changes needed.

Next up was Nicole Silberschlag, Health and Safety Superintendent, to talk about safety programs in place. GAPS, Goal Act Plan Score, has been a “really great program, so far,” commented Nicole. In this front line engagement program, supervisors in the field are using a form in iAuditor. This year alone, 2082 GAPS forms were filled out in iAuditor meaning this increased the number of safety conversations in the field. Neil added to that by stressing the importance of handling safety issues in the field. “We can talk about them all day in meeting rooms, but it’s more effective if we can look at work with leadership and employees on the job and out in the field,” he said. Nicole finished her portion of the presentation with the celebrations in the field of safety over the past year. 2022 Nevada Mining Association General Manager of (con’t on pg 3)

(con't from pg 2) the Year, Neil Jensen, 2022 Nevada Mining Association Mine Manager of the Year, Joe Kemp, 13 additional NvMA safety awards, 2022 Kinross LOVA Winner Sam Faga, Outstanding Corporate Citizenship, along with several trophies from the RMGC emergency response team at the Safety Olympiad in Elko. "We believe we have the best employees in the world," said Nicole.

Sam Faga, Community Relations Professional, was excited to share about all of the awesome outreach opportunities RMGC participated in during 2022. Sam said the focus of her department was to "build strong, lasting relationships with communities where we donate." Over the last year, Kinross Nevada has extended its generous arms to communities across the state, including Duckwater, Yomba Reservation, Las Vegas, Tonopah, Reno, and more. "We have to stay progressive and invest in the future and impact voters," Sam said. While some have scoffed at the extended outreach into cities like Las Vegas, Sam assures the community that much is still being done here. "Just because it isn't visible doesn't mean it's not happening," she said. The amenities provided by the mine site includes the day care, the General Store, the golf course, the health clinic, the JAG and welding programs at school, and much more. We look forward to what 2023 brings.

Local 4-H News and Club Schedule

Northern Nye 4-H has some new projects for the older kids, 9 years of age and up. They are currently offering:

4-H Club run by the kids in 4-H. They meet the first Thursday of every month at the library from 3L45-4:45. The kids vote on the projects they want to learn. Any child who wants to be in any of the 4-H projects must also come to the Club meetings.

Theater meets at the library after school on Mondays from 3:45-4:45. They're putting together a Christmas play on the story Twas the Night Before Christmas.

Public Speaking meets every other Thursday at the library after school from 3:45-4:45. The kids learn tips and tricks on how to get over nerves that come with public speaking. They write small speeches and present them to the group as practice.

Entrepreneurship meets on the opposite Thursdays (of Public) at the library from 3:45-4:45. The kids will learn about what it takes to start their own businesses. They will go over all aspects of business including planning, finance and strategies. We potentially could have some kids starting their own businesses to fill needs in our community.

Keeping Ft and Healthy meets every Friday morning at the town gym from 9-10am. This project will go over age-appropriate workouts and fitness goals. They will also go over nutrition and how to fuel their bodies. The kids will keep a nutrition/fitness journal and keep track of their progress.

Veterinary Medicine is currently closed for sign-ups as this group is already months into their curriculum. This program is very rigorous. The students have to be committed to the extra work that comes with learning about veterinary medicine and everything it entails. They get to do amazing things like dissect sheep brains and cow eyeballs. They learn how to take temperatures on animals, identify problems and properly calculate dosage rates for different size animals and so much more.

For kids 5-7, we have Cloverbuds, which meets every Tuesday at the library after school from 3:45-4:45. The kids do fun activities likes arts and crafts, learn about small animals, architecture and so much more.

4-H is America's largest youth development organization—empowering nearly six million young people with the skills to lead for a lifetime. 4-H is a community for all kids. Anyone interested in joining 4-H can contact Sara Sweeney at 775-232-8084.

Special 4-H Recognition

Thank you to the Round Mountain Public Library for being our home base for weekly classes, for always making copies or answering parent questions when they call in, for sending staff when we didn't have enough 4-H parent helpers and so much more. Thank you Smoky Valley Internet for donating money every month for so many years to help pay for supplies and activities. With your support we can offer 4-H to our families for free. Thank you Carol Shilling for being the heart beat of our 4-H family. We wouldn't have 4-H if it wasn't for you. Thank you for the years of keeping 4-H afloat, even when it was just you. Thank you Sara Sweeney, Elizabeth Keefner, and Katresa Madziarek for holding leaders council positions, for your time preparing lessons, teaching classes and all the fun activities we get to do with the kiddos Thank you Andrea Madziarek for joining the 4-H Leader Council Board as well as getting the animal side of 4-H up and running. Thank you to our amazing 4-H families who make getting your kids to a 4-H activity a priority every week. Thank you for making and ringing snacks. Thank you to the parents who stay and help manage the kids during lessons. The extra hands and eyes in class are extremely helpful Sara Keehfuss, Aaron Damon, and Sara Madsen we are so thankful for your help. Thank you to the Town of Round Mountain for letting us use the gym to start this new class and for letting us use the teen center to host classes and parties. Thank you to volunteers Tinker Evans, Caritta Shilling, Adriana Macias, Loretta Wallace and our beloved Dianne Clouser who help with special camps and events. Thank you to Misha Allen, Anna Whiteside, and Kat Galli who work so hard bend the scenes with 4-H extension. They keep our funding coming and keep the lights on.

JV V-Ball Team Undefeated
